

Letter from Alexander Graham Bell to Mabel Hubbard Bell, June 30, 1880, with transcript

Alexander Graham Bell to Mabel (Hubbard) Bell. 904 — 14th St., Washington, D. C., June 30th, 1880. My darling wee wifie:

Thanks for your telegram this morning.

What have you heard from your nurses? I shall be glad to give Adelaide copy-work to do during the summer on my card-catalogue at the rate of two cents per card copied — for English cards. If I give her other copy-work will make her separate proposal.

I enclose letters from Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard. Please return as I have had barely time to do more than glance over them — having been occupied on Specifications at Mr. Pollok's office.

Charlie's Patents were issued yesterday and I have the originals here. I send you copies for the edification of Lina and yourself.

Please return the Health Officer's Communication.

I enclose copy of Cablegram I have sent to London.

With much love.

Your, Alec. P. S. Executive Committee of the American Bell Telephone Co. have voted to comply with my request for $2000. Mrs. A. G. Bell, Stockton Hotel, Cape May.
